LMXMYT - JAZLYN SAGE

Between 1951 and 1954, Saadat Hasan Manto wrote nine letters to Uncle Sam (America). Only the first letter was written in 1951. The rest all seem to have been written in 1954. I say ‘seem to have been written’ because three of them bear no date. The last one is dated 26 April 1954.

Third letter is interesting in the sense that in it, Manto competes with Uncle Sam’s other nephews throughout the world claiming that he is the most obedient of them all (is this a symbolic reference to Pakistan in its relations with USA?). he wrote: “Although you have millions and billions of nephews but you wouldn’t find a nephew like me even in atomic light; do turn your attention ... T ranslator’s Note: May 11 last week was Saadat Hasan Manto’s 108th birthday. In the last years of his life, he achieved notoriety – and also immortality – by his satires on the mullahs and his series of Letters to Uncle Sam.More than a decade after his untimely demise, his friend and contemporary Mohammad Khalid Akhtar paid the ultimate tribute to his deceased friend by writing a ...
